Enjoy safe, Fourth of July, outdoor fun at Corps sites on the Snake River

WALLA WALLA, Wash. – The upcoming July 4 holiday weekend is a great time to visit U.S. Army Corps of Engineers parks and recreation facilities on the lower Snake River, operated by the Walla Walla District.

Outdoors enthusiasts can enjoy scenic river views while taking advantage of picnicking, camping, fishing, boating and swimming opportunities.

Summer holidays are also a time to remember safety whenever playing in, on or near the water. Here are a few safety tips District park rangers hope visitors will remember while having fun at Corps lakes and recreation facilities: swim with a buddy, wear properly fitted, U.S. Coast Guard-approved life preservers, don't dive where you don't know what's under the surface, and don't consume intoxicants when operating recreational vessels. Boaters must ensure personal floatation devices are on board for each person – children 12 and younger are required to wear PFDs when in a boat. State boating, hunting and fishing regulations apply to visitors at Corps sites. Hunting on Corps property is allowed in designated areas only.

Corps recreation facilities attract many visitors and to make the experience a safe and happy one for everybody, a few rules apply, because safety is everyone's responsibility. Enjoy the facilities but remember that personal fireworks are not allowed on Corps property. Recreation officials encourage visitors to attend local fireworks displays in the communities near the parks.

Some areas have local restrictions on open fires, so remember to check with park managers and rangers when visiting. Leave firearms and other weapons at home. Keep in mind that alcohol is not permitted on Corps properties in Washington. Corps park rangers, as well as local law enforcement officials, will be patrolling throughout the holiday weekend to assist visitors.

Recreation areas associated with the Corps's four dams on the lower Snake River are listed as follows:
